

Briefs: Arizona State to offer MobilePro broadband

December 27 2005

---

MobilePro has struck a deal to offer Arizona State University's vast student body discounted access to its WazTempe wireless broadband network.

The service will be made available to the roughly 50,000 scholars on the Tempe campus starting Jan. 31 with citywide access up and running in February.

"Bringing ASU on board is a key step toward our goal of reaching every person within the 40 square miles of Tempe with our WazTempe network," said MobilePro CEO Jay Wright.
