

Briefs: Fred Campbell to join FCC

December 2 2005

---

FCC Chairman Kevin J. Martin announced Friday that Fred Campbell will serve as his legal adviser for Wireless Issues.

Fred Campbell most recently served as an attorney adviser in the Federal Communications Commission Wireline Competition Bureau. Prior to joining the Commission, Campbell was an attorney with the law firm of Harris, Wiltshire & Grannis, where he advised on a broad range of legal issues associated with the provision of domestic and international telecommunications services.

Campbell previously practiced commercial litigation with the law firm of Wolfe Snowden and served as an adjunct faculty member at the University of Nebraska College of Law. Before that he clerked for the Honorable William M. Connolly of the Nebraska Supreme Court.

Prior to beginning his career in the legal profession, Campbell served in the United States Army. He earned his B.A. from the State University of New York and his J.D., with high distinction, from the University of Nebraska College of Law.

Copyright 2005 by United Press International

Citation: Briefs: Fred Campbell to join FCC (2005, December 2) retrieved 23 April 2024 from <https://phys.org/news/2005-12-fred-campbell-fcc.html>

This document is subject to copyright. Apart from any fair dealing for the purpose of private study or research, no part may be reproduced without the written permission. The content is provided for information purposes only.