

Briefs: 'Sex and the City' author on Sirius

March 7 2006

The author of "Sex and the City" will host a weekly show on Sirius Satellite Radio, the network said Tuesday.

Starting this spring Candace Bushnell will anchor a four-hour show each week focusing on women's concerns regarding relationships and work.

"I've seen it all -- from the toxic bachelor to the happily betrothed, from the modelizers to Mr. Big. Women today are charting new territory: balancing busy careers with their families and trying to find time for all the relationships in their lives. I can't wait to connect with them on the air. After writing extensively about these topics I am thrilled to make the leap from the page to the radio. My show fits right in with the smart, definitive programming SIRIUS has for women," Bushnell said in a news release.

Copyright 2006 by United Press International

Citation: Briefs: 'Sex and the City' author on Sirius (2006, March 7) retrieved 12 May 2024 from <https://phys.org/news/2006-03-sex-city-author-sirius.html>

This document is subject to copyright. Apart from any fair dealing for the purpose of private study or research, no part may be reproduced without the written permission. The content is provided for information purposes only.
--