

Finding the real potential of no-till farming for sequestering carbon

May 6 2008

The potential of no-tillage (NT) soils for increasing the soil organic carbon (SOC) pool must be critically and objectively assessed. Most of the previous studies about SOC accrual in NT soils have primarily focused on the surface layer (

Citation: Finding the real potential of no-till farming for sequestering carbon (2008, May 6) retrieved 10 April 2024 from

<https://phys.org/news/2008-05-real-potential-no-till-farming-sequestering.html>

This document is subject to copyright. Apart from any fair dealing for the purpose of private study or research, no part may be reproduced without the written permission. The content is provided for information purposes only.
--