

MySpace users can now sync posts to Facebook

August 30 2010

(AP) -- MySpace, which recently revamped itself to look more like Facebook, is now allowing users to sync their posts to Facebook, too.

That means people on Facebook can see their friends' MySpace items without leaving Facebook.

MySpace users will also be able to share music, videos, game applications, links and photos across both social networking sites.

The changes announced Monday are part of an overhaul at MySpace, which has faced falling advertising revenue and stagnant user growth.

The News Corp. unit is also in the midst of renegotiating a search partnership as its deal with Google Inc. is nearing a close.

©2010 The Associated Press. All rights reserved. This material may not be published, broadcast, rewritten or redistributed.

Citation: MySpace users can now sync posts to Facebook (2010, August 30) retrieved 23 April 2024 from <https://phys.org/news/2010-08-myspace-users-sync-facebook.html>

This document is subject to copyright. Apart from any fair dealing for the purpose of private study or research, no part may be reproduced without the written permission. The content is provided for information purposes only.
--