

Typewriter fans descending on Philly for 'Type-In'

December 17 2010

(AP) -- In an age of high-tech gadgets that are practically obsolete as soon as they're made, a group is celebrating a machine from an earlier, simpler time: the manual typewriter.

A Philadelphia man has put out a call for typewriter enthusiasts to bring their working Underwoods and Royals to a city pub Saturday afternoon.

It has been dubbed "Type-In: A Pleasant Afternoon of Manual Typewriting."

Organizer Michael McGettigan said the Type-In will take place at Bridgewater's Pub in Philadelphia's 30th Street Station. So far, about a dozen people have RSVP'd.

Participants will get typing paper and envelopes to compose a holiday letter they'll mail after the event. All are encouraged to bring along a spare typewriter or two to swap or sell.

©2010 The Associated Press. All rights reserved. This material may not be published, broadcast, rewritten or redistributed.

Citation: Typewriter fans descending on Philly for 'Type-In' (2010, December 17) retrieved 18 April 2024 from <https://phys.org/news/2010-12-typewriter-fans-descending-philly-type-in.html>

This document is subject to copyright. Apart from any fair dealing for the purpose of private study or research, no part may be reproduced without the written permission. The content is provided for information purposes only.