

Tokyo high court upholds Samsung win against Apple

June 25 2013

A Tokyo high court has upheld a lower court's ruling that Samsung did not infringe on Apple's patent for synchronizing music and data across devices.

Apple asked for 100 million yen ($ 1 million) in damages, but the Tokyo District Court ruled in Samsung's favor last August.

The Intellectual Property High Court in Tokyo upheld that decision Tuesday.

This appeal case is one of many legal battles between the technology giants.

The court decision comes after Apple won a separate patent infringement case against Samsung in the Tokyo District Court last week.

© 2013 The Associated Press. All rights reserved.

Citation: Tokyo high court upholds Samsung win against Apple (2013, June 25) retrieved 13 March 2024 from <https://phys.org/news/2013-06-tokyo-high-court-samsung-apple.html>

This document is subject to copyright. Apart from any fair dealing for the purpose of private study or research, no part may be reproduced without the written permission. The content is provided for information purposes only.
--