

Video: Researchers teach human ethics to autonomous cars

August 1 2016

To actually integrate autonomous vehicles into everyday life, researchers need to teach the cars how to make the safe driving decisions that come intuitively to humans.

Stanford engineers are conducting experiments to translate social behavior into algorithms so that self-driving cars will maintain vehicle safety and passenger comfort.

Provided by Stanford University

Citation: Video: Researchers teach human ethics to autonomous cars (2016, August 1) retrieved 27 April 2024 from <https://phys.org/news/2016-08-video-human-ethics-autonomous-cars.html>

This document is subject to copyright. Apart from any fair dealing for the purpose of private study or research, no part may be reproduced without the written permission. The content is provided for information purposes only.