

Facebook CEO dinner hosts say he's not running for president

May 2 2017

In this April 18, 2017 file photo, Facebook CEO Mark Zuckerberg speaks at his company's annual F8 developer conference in San Jose, Calif. An Ohio family that hosted Zuckerberg for dinner says he made it clear he wasn't planning to run for president in 2020. Zuckerberg dined Friday, April 28, at the Moore family home in Newton Falls, Ohio, during his mission to visit all 50 states. (AP Photo/Noah Berger, File) says he made it clear he wasn't planning to run for president in 2020.

An Ohio family that hosted Facebook CEO Mark Zuckerberg for dinner

Zuckerberg dined Friday at the Moore family home in Newton Falls during his mission to visit all 50 states. His trips have fueled speculation about his political aspirations on social media and the "Today" show.

The Moore family members are Democrats who voted for Republican Donald Trump for president. They say they talked to Zuckerberg about the decline of manufacturing and other challenges facing their town.

Zuckerberg told BuzzFeed in January he wasn't planning to run for president when he announced his trip. A representative says his intention was to learn about the different U.S. communities that use Facebook.

Zuckerberg visited a Wisconsin farm Sunday and posted photos of himself driving a tractor.

© 2017 The Associated Press. All rights reserved.

Citation: Facebook CEO dinner hosts say he's not running for president (2017, May 2) retrieved 27 April 2024 from <https://phys.org/news/2017-05-facebook-ceo-dinner-hosts.html>

This document is subject to copyright. Apart from any fair dealing for the purpose of private study or research, no part may be reproduced without the written permission. The content is provided for information purposes only.