

Video: How rubber makes sports possible

September 5 2017

Credit: The American Chemical Society

Sports balls of all varieties owe their resilience and reliability to an unusual polymer—one whose derivatives and spinoffs are everywhere you look, from cars to shoes to rocket fuel.

Learn about rubber, the all-star's best friend, in this new video from Reactions just in time for kickoff:

Provided by American Chemical Society

Citation: Video: How rubber makes sports possible (2017, September 5) retrieved 3 July 2024 from <https://phys.org/news/2017-09-video-rubber-sports.html>

This document is subject to copyright. Apart from any fair dealing for the purpose of private study or research, no part may be reproduced without the written permission. The content is provided for information purposes only.