

Video: The explosive consequences of cow burps

March 22 2018

Credit: The American Chemical Society

Cows burp up more gas than you might think possible when they're digesting grass.

Most of that gas is methane, a potent greenhouse gas, which is bad news for the planet.

This video from Reactions explains why the chemistry of cow guts is such a busy area of study:

Provided by American Chemical Society

Citation: Video: The explosive consequences of cow burps (2018, March 22) retrieved 19 April 2024 from <https://phys.org/news/2018-03-video-explosive-consequences-cow-burps.html>

This document is subject to copyright. Apart from any fair dealing for the purpose of private study or research, no part may be reproduced without the written permission. The content is provided for information purposes only.