

Health care CEOs lead the way in pay

May 25 2018, by The Associated Press

In this Jan. 8, 2018, file photo, a certified pharmacy technician fills a syringe for use in an I.V. at a hospital in Toledo, Ohio. The healthiest pay packages go to CEOs at health care companies. For the second time in three years, chief executives in the health care field led the S&P 500 in terms of total compensation. (AP Photo/Tony Dejak, File)

The highest pay packages go to CEOs at health care companies. For the second time in three years, chief executives in the health care field led the S&P 500 in terms of total compensation. The typical CEO in the industry made $14.9 million last year, which means half earned more than that, and half made less.

A look at the top and bottom-paid CEOs last year, by industry, as calculated by The Associated Press and Equilar, an executive data firm.

Top paid:

1. Health care, median compensation of $14.9 million, up 10 percent from a year earlier.
2. Industrial goods, $13.9 million, up 9 percent
3. Basic materials, $12.7 million, up 16 percent

Bottom paid:

1. Utilities, $9.3 million, up 8 percent
2. Financial, $10.4 million, up 10 percent
3. Services, $11.3 million, up 5 percent

© 2018 The Associated Press. All rights reserved.

Citation: Health care CEOs lead the way in pay (2018, May 25) retrieved 20 April 2024 from <https://phys.org/news/2018-05-health-ceos.html>

This document is subject to copyright. Apart from any fair dealing for the purpose of private study or research, no part may be reproduced without the written permission. The content is provided for information purposes only.