

Video: What might help rebuild police-community relations?

June 16 2020

Credit: CC0 Public Domain

Sanford School Ph.D. candidate Ajenai Clemmons does research that is part of the headlines. She has spent years interviewing police and minority group residents in East Durham and East London. Her data on the factors helping and harming community relations will be shared with leaders of both cities.

Ajenai plans to defend her dissertation and graduate in May 2021. She will share her findings with police and elected leaders in Durham and London, UK. Interviewees will be invited. Ajenai serves on the Sanford School's Board of Visitors. She also represents public policy PhD students on the Duke Graduate School Advisory Board.

Provided by Duke University

Citation: Video: What might help rebuild police-community relations? (2020, June 16) retrieved 25 July 2024 from <https://phys.org/news/2020-06-video-rebuild-police-community.html>

This document is subject to copyright. Apart from any fair dealing for the purpose of private study or research, no part may be reproduced without the written permission. The content is provided for information purposes only.
--