

Video: Making leather that is Earth—and fashion-friendly

30 April 2015

Credit: The American Chemical Society

Alternatives to leather made from animal hides have been around for decades. Synthetic leather is in our car seats and our stylish jackets. But materials used to make faux-leather are also highly toxic.

In this week's Speaking of Chemistry, Lauren Wolf talks about a new, alternative way to make synthetic leather both eco-conscious and fashion-forward.

Check it out here:

Provided by American Chemical Society

APA citation: Video: Making leather that is Earth—and fashion-friendly (2015, April 30) retrieved 28 November 2022 from <https://phys.org/news/2015-04-video-leather-earthand-fashion-friendly.html>

This document is subject to copyright. Apart from any fair dealing for the purpose of private study or research, no part may be reproduced without the written permission. The content is provided for information purposes only.