How China is taking on climate change
20 July 2018, by David Sandalow

The Guide to Chinese Climate Policy is a "living document." Many of the facts and policies it describes will change in the months and years ahead. As that happens, the guide will be updated. A website with content from the guide will be launched this fall.

More information: Read the full guide here: energypolicy.columbia.edu/rese ... inese-climate-policy

This story is republished courtesy of Earth Institute, Columbia University http://blogs.ei.columbia.edu.

Provided by Earth Institute, Columbia University