

Video: Why plastic bottles are recycled into clothes

30 August 2018

Credit: The American Chemical Society

Exercise clothes and trendy handbags made from recycled plastic are all the rage and help consumers feel as if they are doing their part for the environment. But there are several reasons plastic bottles are recycled into clothes, which can't be recycled a second time, instead of new bottles.

In this video, Reactions explains the chemistry behind what happens to your soda bottle after you toss it in the bin.

Provided by American Chemical Society

APA citation: Video: Why plastic bottles are recycled into clothes (2018, August 30) retrieved 14 October 2019 from <https://phys.org/news/2018-08-video-plastic-bottles-recycled.html>

This document is subject to copyright. Apart from any fair dealing for the purpose of private study or research, no part may be reproduced without the written permission. The content is provided for information purposes only.